Description

Quarter page news column which details the investigation into the stability of Moore's Travertine Arch, removed from Kensington Gardens in 1996. States predicted costs of restoration, as well as listing the team of experts involved in the project. Two illus: The Arch 1979-80 Travertine Marble, (LH 503c) is contrasted with a three-dimensional scan of the sculpture showing the internal stresses ranging from blue, the lowest stress, to red, the highest.
